

DREYFUSS GETS BUSY.

Barney Buys One Pitcher and Recalls Ten Players.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., August 15.—Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh National League club, announced yesterday the purchase of Pitcher Jack Scott from the Macon South Atlantic League club and the release of Pitcher Paul Carpenter to the Charlotte club of the same league.

The Pirates have also recalled outfielder Altenburg, Catcher Blackwell, infielder Cleveland and Pitcher Douglas from the Wheeling Club; Pitcher Hill and infielders McAuley and Siglin, Rochester International League club; infielder Madden, Syracuse club; infielder Smith, Toronto International League club, and Catcher William Wagner, Terre Haute Central League club.

After being put out of business by a "bean" ball, Charley McDonald was "sold back" by Birmingham to Atlanta. The deal indicates that the Southern League club still engage in the pernicious habit of "loaning" players, a practice that a well-regulated league should not permit.

NATIONALS MORE SUCCESSFUL AGAINST BOSTON THAN OTHERS

Had Griffmen Won From Other Clubs as From Red Sox They Would Not Be Floundering in Second Division.

BY J. ED GRILLO.

BOSTON, August 15.—If the Nationals had been as successful all season against other teams as they have been against Boston they would not be floundering about in the second division. By their victory yesterday the Griffmen again gained the lead in the series between the Red Sox and Nationals, having won nine of the seventeen games which have been played to date.

The Nationals here today play their final game of the season, but in September the Red Sox will come down to the nation's capital and finish the season by playing four games.

Walter Johnson is slated to pitch today, and he is likely to be opposed by either Foster or Shore. Both of them pitched airtight ball throughout the recent western trip of the Red Sox, so that even if Walter is in good form he will have a hard battle on his hands unless the Nationals are fortunate enough to have a little luck in their hitting.

Ray Morgan has been hitting much better recently than he did during the first three weeks after his return to the team. He got three hits off Mays yesterday, and one of his drives won the game for his team. It was a lone line drive against the embankment in left center, which neither Walker nor Lewis could reach, with the result that it went for two bases, and McBride and Moeller, who previously had walked, ran home. This happened in the seventh inning. Both of Morgan's singles were clean-cut drives.

It looked like a forlorn hope for Griffith after McBride had walked with two down, to send up a pinch hitter in the person of Dan Moeller. The only chance he seemed to have was to hit a long drive, and this has not been customary with Daniel for some time. But Moeller deserves the credit for doing his share toward making the victory possible, when he followed Scott's suit and also worked Mays for a pass.

Gallia displayed better form yesterday than he has in some time. He had almost perfect control, and struck out five of the Sox, though they succeeded in securing the only run off him. Gallia had a world of stuff and he knew how to use it, with Henry's aid, the result being that he went through six innings and allowed but three hits. With Gallia back in form there will be better work from the pitching staff.

The game today will be called at 2 o'clock to give the Nationals a chance to make the 1:30 train to New York, where they will arrive at midnight and make a trip across town in taxicabs for the Pennsylvania station to catch the 12:30 train for Washington, where they

to Open Series Tomorrow

The Detroit team arrived here this morning to open the series with the Nationals when the latter return home tomorrow. The Tigers have been going well of late and are not far behind the leaders in fact, the "pennant race" again seems to be heating around the bonnets of many of those connected with the club.

Open a three game series with the Detroit Tigers tomorrow.

The Browns, who have made such a sensational run of victories in the past month, will be the attraction Saturday coming for four games. In the meantime the Browns will play three games at Philadelphia. The Mackmen may be able to stop them now that they are winning a game occasionally.

Jameson played a splendid game in left field, though he did not get any hits. He, however, did not let the ball on every occasion. There were several long drives into left field which Jameson handled well, and his accurate throw to Morgan, when Barry was playing the hit-and-run with Hooper, which resulted in Hooper being doubled up at first, did much to save the game, for Lewis followed with the double to left, which undoubtedly would have tied the score had Hooper gotten back to first base.

Howard Shanks is sure to remain at first base so long as Joe Judge is absent, for there is no one else to catch Scott on the Griffith team, barring Judge. He picked up two hard-hit and easy to handle balls in yesterday's game like an experienced first baseman and he handled all the throws in the change his feet. As a utility player Howard has no equal, for he can make good on most any position in the infield and is one of the best fielders in the game.

In the third inning, when the Red Sox had scored their run on Hooper's single to right, Rice made a throw to the plate which was too late to catch Scott, who had scored, and Mays, who had gone to second on the hit of Hooper, second to third, while Hooper went to second.

There was only one out at the time, and Barry was too late to catch Scott, who had scored, and Mays, who had gone to second on the hit of Hooper, second to third, while Hooper went to second. Barry fouled the balls once toward third and the next time toward first. Had he been able to lay the ball down safely there he would have scored. But with two strikes on him as the result of the inability to handle the ball, he struck out. Then Gallia also fanned Lewis.

Games Scheduled Tomorrow in Both Post-Season Sections

Fourth Contest to Be Played in B and A Opens With Holy Name and Rosedale Contending Teams.

BY H. C. BYRD.

Games will be played in both sections of the post-season series tomorrow. The fourth contest in section B is to be staged with Treasury and Auditors as the contending teams, and the first combat in section A will take place between the Holy Name and Rosedale teams. The winner of the title in the Potomac League will not be known until tomorrow, as the circuit has until then to determine a champion.

The series in section A will close August 22, next Tuesday, if rain or some kind of bad weather does not break up the schedule in the meantime. The last contest in section B is to take place Friday. If the games in the two sections are brought to a close as early as the dates indicate, the post-season series will have closed sooner and the games will have been run off with much greater dispatch than ever before. If this is done probably the entire series will be finished by Saturday week, including the battles between the winners of the two sections.

Bureau evened up things with the Machinists in the race for the Potomac League championship yesterday, taking the long end of a 7-to-3 score, making the count stand for each club two games won and two lost. Machinists took the first two contests without trouble and Bureau won the last two just as easily.

Bureau had two big innings yesterday—the fourth and fifth—in which it scored three and four runs, respectively. It was rather a coincidence that the Machinists got all their runs in these periods also.

Chaplin led the losers at bat, getting two safeties out of three trips to the plate. Lemerick and Koogle were the best hitters for Bureau, scored runs with the number of hits made by Chaplin. Koogle and Lemerick, though, were four times at the plate instead of three. Lemerick fielded nicely in center for his club.

Lions proved himself the master of the Machinists again, keeping the hits well scattered. It was his pitching more than anything else which was responsible for his team's victory. If Bureau finally beats out the Navy Yard men for the championship a great part of the credit for the feat must go to Lyons.

Treasury had a narrow escape from defeat yesterday in its game in the section B series with Keller. The Sunday School League got away to a good start, taking a lead, and went into the final inning with a margin of six runs. In the last period Treasury began scoring, and before the third man was out six men had crossed the plate, which caused the contest to end in a tie—8 to 8.

Mortimer, who appeared at shortstop for Keller, did some wonderful work. His exhibition was one of the best given by an amateur player in the local leagues this year. He handled fourteen out of fifteen chances in the field, and got three safe drives out of the five times he faced Scott and Dust, who did the hurling for Treasury. McLauren, Downey and Dust each obtained two safe drives for the Moneyhandlers.

The following list of eligible players for the post-season games has been turned in to Secretary Shurtliff of the Amateur Base Ball Association by Keller and Holy Name: Edward Behre, Raymond Bischoff, Thomas A. Crooke, Edward T. Dillon, John J. Fitzgerald, James Green, Joseph H. Giebel, Leonard C. McCarthy, William McPhilly, Salvador Marino, John Nolan, Charles E. Offutt, Charles F. Pickett, James C. Roche, Charles F. Saib, Jr., Frank J. Saib, James Sweeney, Thomas L. Tooley, Charles W. Bailing, W. F. Martin, Leo Phiberty, James Phiberty, Charles Dodge, Robert Flynn, Edwin Tomlin, S. Benner, F. Hausman, Melvin Lynch, Edwin Weber, Charles Offutt, William Rohmson, Louis Long.

Judging by the fact that Mortimer led the Bureau team yesterday to play with Keller, Bureau is due to be much weaker in the post-season games, probably because of the fact that the Potomac League, than during the regular league season. It is fairly certain that Roche and Fitzgerald will play with the Holy Name Club, and if Mortimer goes to Keller, there is no question about the weakening of the team. Without these three men Bureau will be much weaker than usual. Mortimer has been playing short and has won himself the reputation of being one of the best hitters and fielders in the amateur circuits. He batted fourth in the line-up.

Four members of the Washington Canoe Club did some brilliant paddling in the recent American Canoe Association events at Sugar Island, Canada. Charles Wagner, Harry Knight, Karl Knight and Keeneland Rutherford made the trip as the representative team of the local club, and won the annual trophy for the best team of canoeists of the United States and Canada, which performance is all the more remarkable in that it is considered that only two men could compete in each class, the racing and cruising class. Wagner and Harry Knight took part in the racing class, and Karl Knight and Rutherford in the racing. All four men were in the race between club fours. Here are the races, all over a half-mile course, and the positions in which the Washington men finished:

Cruising class—Tandem, single blade, won by Wagner and H. Knight. Singles, single blade, Wagner, first; H. Knight, second. Tandem, double blade, Wagner and Knight, first. Tail end race, Wagner, second.
Racing class—Tandem, single blade, Rutherford and Karl Knight, third. Singles, single blade, Rutherford, third. Club fours, single blade, Washington Canoe Club, second (Rutherford, H. Knight, K. Knight and Wagner).
The races held by the American Canoe Association are the best of the year, and to win them is a distinct honor, as the highest reward for canoeists go with victories in the events. That the local men were able to accomplish the feat of capturing the trophy from the pick of the Canadian and American canoeists is especially commendable.

Joe Oliveri, manager of the Vigilant boat team, for years one of the best independent organizations in the east, has issued a call for candidates for his team to appear at 407 10th street tonight at 8 o'clock. Plans for the year are to be discussed and arrangements for the schedule made. All intending to try for the eleven are requested to be present.

Johnson Suspends Roth.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, August 15.—Bobby Roth, Cleveland's star pinch hitter, who won Sunday's game for the Indians from St. Louis when he clouted a home run in the ninth, was suspended indefinitely yesterday by President Ben Johnson of the American League.

Roth was suspended for throwing a pop bottle into the stands Sunday after fans had showered him with glassware. Danger of Roth hitting an innocent spectator was the reason given for the drastic sentence.

MORGAN'S HIT WINS

Ray Gets Two-Bagger, Drives in Nationals' Runs.

RED SOX HUMBLLED, 2 TO 1

Gallia and Boehling Pitch Clever

Ball for Griffith's Club.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

BOSTON, August 15.—A long two-base hit to left center by Ray Morgan in the seventh inning of yesterday's game, with two out and two on, gave the Griffmen a brace of runs and a victory over the Boston Red Sox, score, 2 to 1. After Jameson and Henry had been retired, McBride walked, and in the hope that something would happen, Manager Griffith sent Dan Moeller to bat for Gallia, and he also drew a pass. With first and second occupied and the count two and two on Morgan, Mays grooved one and Morgan hit it to the fence in right center, sending McBride and Moeller home with the runs which won the game.

Gallia pitched splendid ball, and Boehling, too, got himself out of several tight places, which made the victory possible. The run Boston scored was made off Gallia in the third inning. He lost control, temporarily, in this round and, after Scott had made a single, he walked Thomas. Mays, however, forced Thomas at second and Scott went to third. Hooper singled and brought Scott home, with the only run the world's champions scored during the day.

Boehling started to pitch in the seventh. He retired the first man up and then Gardner singled. But Scott's grounder to Boehling, which should have been a double play, was dropped by McBride, covering second, to whom Boehling pegged, and Gardner and Scott were on the bases with none out. Gainer was sent to bat for Thomas and Boehling fanned him; Janviri, who batted for Mays, rolled to Morgan and was out at first.

In the eighth Hooper led off with a single. Barry made two unsuccessful attempts to sacrifice, and then hit a long fly to left on the hit-and-run play. Hooper had turned second for third when Jameson made the catch. He threw to Morgan, and the latter laid the ball to Shanks in time to double up Hooper. Lewis followed with a double down the third-base line, and he stole third, but Walker's sharp grounder was scooped up by Shanks, who touched the bag and retired the side.

It looked a bit squally in the ninth, too, for Gardner beat out a swinging punt to Boehling and Scott sacrificed, but Boehling struck out Gainer for a second time, and then Shanks ate up a grounder which was hit by Foster, bunting for Leonard, and touched the bag, and the game was over. Score:

Struggle for Batting Honors Goes Merrily On

While Jake Durbert was idle, Dave Johnson of the Giants went to bat seven times and tallied to get a safe hit. This placed the Brooklyn first baseman high on the list for batting honors in the National League, with a percentage of .321. Robertson, losing seven points, fell into second place, with .322. Home Speaker was idle because of rain, and remained third, with .317.

Washington Players Remain in Colored Championship Tourney.
PHILADELPHIA, August 15.—The best negro tennis players of this section have come to Philadelphia to compete for the sixth annual Eastern clay court championship of the colored race that is being held on the courts at Strawberry Mansion. Every year the Chautauque Tennis Club, a local organization, holds this open event, and many out-of-town entries are received.
The local players have been eliminated and the semi-finalists consist of two New York contestants and two from Washington. The best match of the day brought together E. W. Lewis of Washington and Warren Logan of New York. Lewis defeated his opponent in a bitter three-set match, 4-6, 10-8, 6-3. J. T. Howard of the local club was eliminated by W. B. Romero of New York, while William Waller, another Philadelphian, fell before the smashes of Sylvester Smith of Washington, 6-1, 6-1.
